Preparations Are Made to Summon a Grand Jury
for Inquiry Wednesday

TULSA, Okla., June 4.—State guardsmen mobilized here to put down the race war of Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, were withdrawn this morning, leaving the city in control of municipal and county officials, reinforced by deputized former service men.

Business and social life here is fast returning to normal following the lifting of martial law late yesterday and many negroes are back at work.

Preparations for a grand jury investigation June 8 to fix the responsibility for the race outbreak, which

Legion Post Plans Pro-German Celebration; Town in Uproar

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, June 3.—Controversy over a proposed celebration to be held at Lowden, Iowa, June 11, under the auspices of the American Legion post there, has resulted in the resignation of the Mayor and protests from other Legion posts in the vicinity. It is alleged that the Saturday nearest June 13 always has been celebrated in Lowden as a feast day, in commemoration of the German victory over France in 1871.

Three hundred representatives of thirteen American Legion posts in Cedar resulted in the death of thirty-one persons and a property loss estimated at $1,500,000, were made to-day by the county attorney.

Thirty white men have been arrested and are being held for investigation as suspects in connection with the riots, Police Chief Gustafson announced. Another white man arrested by State Guardsmen on a complaint of inciting riot is also being held.

The death of Robert Hanson, twenty-seven years old, brought the list of white dead up to ten to-day.

Many pitiful tales of the misery and suffering of the negro refugees were told. Some ventured into the burned district to come away with small bandana handkerchief bundles filled with their entire salvage from once excellent homes. In a prominent hotel yesterday the porter, being passed by the manager, summoned the courage to say: "Boss, I've gettin' kinda weak."

dar, Linn and Jones counties held a mass meeting at Olin last night to protest the celebration, which Lowden Legion representatives, who were present, agreed to postpone until June 25.

The celebration was originally planned for June 2, but later members of the Lowden post asked the City Council for a change to June 11. Mayor Mowry declined to make the change, asserting it was a pro-German movement. Other members of the City Council agreed to the change, it is said, and the Mayor resigned.

It was found he had been shot through the side and for twenty-four hours had feared to reveal his injury lest he be taken for one of the rioters and summarily executed.

Homes for thousands of negroes made destitute by the rioting will be rebuilt by Tulsa business men, but a general plan of reconstruction is still being sought by members of the citizens' committee of welfare, named for that purpose. Out of the burning of the negro section the negroes will profit in one respect, for the business interests of the city are determined that a better and more sanitary section will be erected.

Some prominent men object to rearing a new negro settlement on the ashes of the area destroyed and suggest that land be bought in the northern section of the city, where homes could be built with a view to city planning.
