Hardwick inaugurated governor of Georgia

By Elmer E. Burkhart

INDIANAPOLIS, June 25,—William G. Hardwick, a Democrat of the old school, was inaugurated governor of Indiana today at the Statehouse here.

Hardwick is the first Indiana governor to be inaugurated in 60 years, having been chosen by the Democratic party in May after the Tennessee Jones verdict, which ended the 60-year rule of the Republican party in Indiana. Hardwick is 73 years old and a member of the old school of Indiana politics.

The inaugurated governor took the oath of office in a private ceremony at the Governor's Mansion last night, and today he addressed a joint session of the legislature.

James S. Robertson, the ousted governor, has returned to his home here.

The tread justifies the name "Non-Skid." It is not merely a pattern, but a scientifically constructed non-skid with angles and contacts which give real effectiveness in holding the car against slipping or skidding. Its extra thickness where the wear is most severe gives many extra miles of service. Forty-seven high-grade car manufacturers now use it as original equipment.
